Simpkins & Co are a growing firm of solicitors providing services across the New Forest, Hampshire and Dorset.

As the business has grown and new clients were taken on, it was identified that a number of these were Polish business people looking to do business in Hampshire and across the UK and this led to Simpkins & Co establishing a Polish division within the practice.

Whilst the majority of the clients spoke very good English, the complexities of some legal documents identified a specific need that was not being met elsewhere in the Hampshire and Dorset region.

The business initially recruited a Polish speaking Litigation Executive to support their Principal Solicitor Steve Simpkins and to act as translator at client meetings. The gap in the market however was quickly identified and this service has now grown to employ 2 full time Polish staff across their two offices. Beyond this, the company website has been fully translated into Polish.

Earlier this year, Simpkins & Co were invited to speak at the 2015 Congress of Polish Entrepreneurs where they addressed Polish delegates either setting up a UK business or currently operating UK businesses. Through this work, Simpkins & Co have also been successful in forging innovative links with Polish Business Link and the British Polish Chamber of Commerce.
